

PROMINENT LAWYER KILLED BY A TRAIN AT CATLETTSBURG

Mr. Laban T. Everett, prominent lawyer, member of Maysville Commandery Knights Templar, killed Sunday night.

Hon. Laban T. Everett, prominent Catlettsburg attorney, was killed instantly at his home at Catlettsburg Sunday evening when he stepped directly in front of a passing C. & O. freight train.

Mr. Everett was returning to his home Sunday evening. It was raining hard and he was carrying an umbrella. As he approached the railroad crossing he stepped for a passing freight train and walked directly behind the rear of the train. He was struck by a freight train approaching from the opposite direction which he could neither see or hear. He was killed instantly.

Mr. Everett was a cousin of Mr. J. C. Everett, of this city. He was very well known in Maysville where he had often visited. For many years he had been a member of Maysville Commandery No. 10 Knights Templar.

The funeral will be held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock.

Information of the fatal accident was conveyed to Mr. C. P. Rapp Recorder of Maysville Commandery. A committee of local Knights Templar will attend the funeral.

SICKNESS THIS TIME OF YEAR

If You Tire Easily and Feel Run Down, You Need Gude's Pepto-Mangan.

All over the United States the health of the people is guarded carefully by Boards of Health. Yet with all that care and watchfulness a disease sometimes breaks out, and spreads from home to home.

There is one safeguard that is preached by all physicians. That is to keep in good physical condition. Gude's Pepto-Mangan builds up the blood by increasing the number of red corpuscles. It is then able to fight disease germs and carry them off.

If you do not feel right, start today and take Gude's Pepto-Mangan. Keep on taking it until you notice how much better you feel.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan is put up in both liquid and tablet form and is sold by druggists everywhere. The liquid and tablets have exactly the same medicinal value. Buy whichever you prefer. Be sure it is "Gude's Pepto-Mangan."—Advertisement.

ALLEGED FLEMING COUNTY MOONSHINER CAUGHT HERE

Colored Man Charged With Making Liquor and Selling the Same Is Arrested Here For Authorities.

Local police Saturday night arrested Richard Robinson, colored, on the local streets, on a bench warrant issued in the Fleming Circuit Court.

Robinson is charged in an indictment returned by the last Fleming county grand jury, with operating an illicit moonshine still and with selling moonshine whiskey. Robinson has been in Maysville for several weeks and the local police have been unable to locate him so well as he kept under cover. He was taken, however, Saturday night at the corner of East Second and Union streets.

Robinson, it is charged for several months has been operating a moonshine still near the edge of Mason and Fleming counties. Much of the product of the still, officials say, has been distributed in Fleming county although local officials are of the opinion that some of the liquor was also distributed here.

Robinson will be returned to Fleming County Monday afternoon by the Sheriff of Fleming county who has arrived for him.

AGED GERMANTOWN CITIZEN DIED LATE FRIDAY.

Mrs. Laura C. Tolls, aged 81 years, widow of the late William Tolls, died at her home in Germantown Friday evening after a lingering illness of a complication of diseases. BODY OF DAY-OLD BABY BOY FOUND FLOATING IN CREEK

Small Boy Playing Along Shore of Swollen Cabin Creek Fished Out—What He Thought Was Doll—Proved to Be Baby Boy.

Local officials have another deep mystery to solve in the finding Monday afternoon floating in Cabin Creek the body of a white baby boy, thought to be no more than one or two days old.

The little son of Mr. Lee Weaver was playing along the shore of the creek when he saw something floating nearby which appeared to be a doll. The little fellow found a stick with the aid of which he towed the supposed doll to the shore. He soon discovered that what he thought was a big doll was really the body of a baby and he immediately notified his father. Mr. Weaver removed the little body from the creek and wrapped it. He then notified County Judge H. P. Purnell and County Coroner Thomas F. Higgins.

Coroner Higgins accompanied by Chief of Police James Mackey, other officers and local newspaper reporters left in automobiles at 2 o'clock for the scene.

No particulars have been learned except that from its appearance, it was thought that the body had not been in the creek any great length of time, although a part of one of the feet had been torn off. The little body was not wrapped when found. Officers were stricken with horror when they received the report and will make a very thorough investigation.

EASTERN STAR SCHOOL OF INSTRUCTION WEDNESDAY

Worthy Grand Matron of Kentucky Eastern Star to Hold Inspection School Here This Week.

NOT ONE HOG TO THE FARM IN STATE CENSUS SHOWS

Special Effort To Be Made to Stimulate Interest in Purebred Swine in State of Kentucky.

Kentucky has 270,626 farms with 235,122 head of breeding hogs, according to the United States census of 1920, which means that it has less than one hog per farm. According to the census there were 819,043 pigs and 450,265 feeding hogs, which brings the average up to 5.5 head per farm of all kinds of hogs for the state of Kentucky, only 33,619 head of the total were pure-bred animals, all breeds included.

The State Fair Board of Kentucky have been endeavoring to correct this situation by inducing exhibitions of swine at State Fair each year, which will stimulate interest in the American Mortgage Lifter. According to L. R. Shropshire, Assistant Secretary of the Kentucky State Fair, arrangements have been made with the Poland China Breed Promotion Committee, Peoria, Illinois, for a $600 Futurity show. The prizes in the Poland China open classes at the Kentucky State Fair in 1921 amounted to $400, the prizes in the Pig Club Classes amounted to $260. Such purses in addition to the money guaranteed by the Poland China Breed Promotion Committee, will make a Poland purse for 1922 of $1,260.00, which will insure a large exhibit.

Breeders will be eligible to compete for the premiums in the Futurity Show on condition that they nominate their herd by March 15th with the Poland China Breed Promotion Committee by the payment of $5.00, and according to the plan there must be no less than twenty (20) herds nominated for the State Fair Show. Breeders in adjoining states where there is no Futurity Show are eligible to enter the Kentucky Futurity Show, provided the nominate their herds. Animals which are exhibited in the Futurity Show are also eligible to open classes of the fair. This large premium list assures a large exhibition of swine at the coming State Fair.

WILL WED WEDNESDAY.

County Clerk A. M. January Monday morning issued marriage license to Mr. George T. Sherman, aged 30, and Miss Minnie Yazell, aged 22, both of the county. They will be married at St. Patrick's church on Wednesday of this week by Rev. P. M. Jones.

DEMOCRATIC LEGISLATURE FACES BIG TRUST

Kentucky Voters Will Hold Democratic Majority Responsible for Result of General Assembly.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 19.—Members of the Legislature, who remained in Frankfort over the last week-end recess of the session and those who returned from their homes tonight, were discussing their responsibilities and the prospects of accomplishing the purpose for which they came here with more seriousness than at any time since the first burst of enthusiasm, when they broke all precedent and passed the Bingham Act the second week of the session.

The forty days of free action of committees and members have passed, and the closure rule which goes on tomorrow, leaves it in the hands of the Rules Committee to make or mar the record of the 1922 General Assembly.

The overwhelming Democratic majority of the House and the safe majority in the Senate, heralded as a repudiation of the 1920 Assembly and of the Morrow administration, has it in its hands to determine how the state will vote in 1923, members agree, and with this power now delegated to the Rules Committee after the passage of eight bills, none of them party pledges, the Democrats realize the seriousness of their situation.

DISTRICT MISSION BOARD MEETS HERE SATURDAY.

The District Mission Board of the Bracken Association of Baptists will hold a very important all-day session at the First Baptist church in this city on next Saturday. Much important business is to come before this board whose members represent all of the Baptist churches in the Bracken association.

WOODFORD COUNTY DISTILLERY ROBBED MONDAY MORNING

Liquor Valued at $40,000 Is Carried Away From Labrot & Graham Distillery in Three Large Automobile Trucks.

Lexington, Ky., Feb. 20.—Between 350 and 400 cases of whisky were stolen early today from the Labrot & Graham distillery in Woodford county by 20 masked men who held up and tied to posts four guards and a passerby, according to reports here. The robbers are said to have headed for Cincinnati. The whisky valued at $40,000, was carried away on three trucks.

The guards, surprised by the robbers, were lined up in the offices with their faces to the wall while the warehouses were being looted. After the robbery the guards were bound to posts in the distillery yard, it was reported. Prohibition officers, led by Sam Collins, State director, left immediately after being notified of the robbery.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

YOUR MAYSVILLE, MY MAYSVILLE.

Maysville has an opportunity to get a great steel plant employing some 2,500 men and distributing in weekly salaries approximately $100,000. An effort is now being made to induce the Andrews Iron Works to move to Maysville if they change their present location.

Business men and city officials have joined hands in this effort and its a time for a pull together. No petty differences or jealousy should be permitted to stand in the way of heartiest co-operation among all individuals and interests.

It is staggering to think of what a great benefit such a plant would be to Maysville and because of the bigness of the proposition, there are those who sneer at the possibility and laugh it off with "there's not the ghost of a chance." For this very reason Maysville has never been able to get very far.

If we don't go after big things, its a certainty we'll never get big things.

If we should happen to get one big plant like the Andrews plant, we could then expect other big plants and a steady growth. We have lost population on the last two Federal census returns and its time we are attempting something.

Let's attempt something big.

Every loyal Maysvillian must forget everything personal and think only of Maysville. Line up with the boosters and let's go and get it.

If we win Maysville will double its population in a few years and business will boom.

If we lost, we will have gained through our experience and we will all be better business men by having touched elbows on such a proposition. We will come out of the experience boosters for Maysville and that's what Maysville needs.

Talk Maysville up. It's Your Maysville. It's My Maysville.

INCREASING RAILROAD EFFICIENCY

The persistent endeavors of railroad operating officials to increase the efficiency of their service to the public is shown in the figures issued yesterday by the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad. According to these statements, there was an increase of 14 per cent. in the number of trains run on time during the last year, as compared with 1920. The comparisons are of more than ordinary interest, in view of the clashes in opinion as to the success of Federal control of the railroads, for it is shown that for the ten months from March to December, 1920, the period immediately following the return of the carriers to their owners, the New Haven's percentage of trains on time was 80.2 per cent., while for the same period in 1921 the percentage was 91.6 per cent.—New York Times.

The concrete achievements of the Washington armaments conference should be sufficient answer to those internationalists who have bemoaned what they chose to call the "isolation" of the United States. Marion Star—All that worry over how the administration was going to raise the price of Liberty bonds appears to have been utterly unnecessary.

Philadelphia North American—The impossibility of reviving interest in old plays is shown in the return of that old favorite, McAdoo About Nothing.

Omaha Bee—Mr. McAdoo says the government administration of the railroads was all right. Remember who was dictator?

Mr. Gompers wants to form an alliance with the farmers. "Come into my parlor," said the spider to the fly.

Muskogee Phoenix—Russia is beginning to learn that the proof of political theories is in the eating.

THE MAN ABOUT TOWN.

There must be an interpretation of the license law of the city. Because of there being two license fees for the same privilege, officials got into a pretty bad tangle Saturday afternoon when a peddler who, some officials contended should have a twenty-five dollar license, flashed a two dollar document.

Manager Charles Trifebel, of the Pastime Theater, is to be congratulated upon bringing to Maysville such a high class picture as "Over the Hill." It is a picture calculated to affect the finer parts of man and is destined to do good. The possibilities of the motion picture for good are unlimited and its possibilities for ill are just as great.

Mason countians congratulate County Judge Purnell and the County Commissioners upon the election of Squire L. M. Collis as County Road Engineer. Mr. Collis is not only qualified for this most important position but he is a high class gentleman in whom persons of all political faiths have the utmost confidence and everyone knows that the Road department will be properly managed.

UNCLE TED'S
BED-TIME STORIES.

"There's not much to try to fix this car any longer, kiddies," said Uncle Ted, as he came out from under the automobile. "The longer I work with it the worse it seems to get. It reminds me of the Democratic party. It keeps me broke trying to run it. It gives me nothing but expense and trouble and mighty little joy in return."

"What are you going to do, then?" asked Jack, who looked hungry enough to eat most anything. "We're a mile from home and a half mile from a telephone."

"I know what we'll do," replied Uncle Ted. "We will walk home; leave the car here until morning when I can send one of the garage boys out to see what kind of an operation is necessary to make the patient well."

"I won't kick about walking home, if you'll tell us a story on the way," said Ruth.

"That's fair," replied her uncle. "I've plenty to tell you, too. I wonder if you children can realize how much $576,000,000 is. It is some amount of money, at any rate, and it is the amount saved the United States on the annual appropriations by the operation of the budget system under Director Charles G. Dawes. Sounds sort of good to hear about money being saved instead of being wasted, doesn't it?"

"This good news was told by President Harding at the second meeting of the government business organization a short time ago. What was actually done in six months' time was to reduce expenditures for the year from the $4,550,000,000 appropriated to $3,974,000,000. General Dawes in speaking at this meeting said that for the first time in 130 years government officers were really trying to see how little money they could spend instead of how much. Among other things the President said at this meeting was this: 'In a business so great as that of the national government unexpected receipts will not infrequently swell the total of calculated revenues. It seems likely that this will be true during the current year. But despite this possibility it now seems probable that the restrictions upon expenditure which have been possible by reason of the administration's general policy and your splendid co-operation have resulted in a surplus of receipts for the year. The prospect for such a surplus, when compared with the estimated deficiency of $34,500,000 that was outlined in the budget figures submitted to Congress in December, is certainly an occasion of much satisfaction to all of us.'"

"That sure is good news for the taxpayers, isn't it?" said Jack.

"Yes, indeed it is, Jack. But that isn't the only good work accomplished at Washington. The closing of the arms conference marked the end of a meeting which, as the President said in his closing address, 'wrought a truly great achievement.' No meeting of this kind in the history of the world ever accomplished so much real good in so short a time. The fellow who said it was a waste of time—the pessimist and all of his kind—must surely be hanging their heads in shame. In less than three months, the representatives of the nine great countries of the world sat together and agreed upon matters which have worried the world for a long, long time. The two most important matters settled by this meeting and by the signing of treaties are the naval pact and the agreement relating to China. The first calls for the reducing of naval armament and is the first step toward practical peace that has ever been attempted. I have told you again and again about Shantung, and how its occupation by the Japanese has been a sore spot which at time might have turned into war in the Far East, dragging in other countries, ourselves included. Today we know that Japan has agreed to turn this territory back to China, and, following that example, Great Britain has turned back to China a certain piece of land she held in that country. The naval treaty actually calls for scrapping battleships. It gets down to brass tacks and has the support of all countries represented. The results of this conference cannot be estimated now. It will take many years for the world to know just how great it really was. The day after the meeting in Washington closed, parliament opened in London. Lloyd George, the prime minister, said that the meeting was one of the greatest achievements ever registered in the history of the world, and King George said that the world owes a deep debt of gratitude to the initiative of President Harding in making this conference possible."

"Many people wonder why the conference was such a success—why it never was possible before to accomplish so much. It is not hard to understand if we want to give credit where it is due. President Harding knew that limitation of the number of countries to take part in the meeting was as important as limitation of armament. Limiting the countries to those really needed, speeded up the work. There was no secrecy. True there were committee meetings behind closed doors, but as soon as something was accomplished it was settled in the open. Another important point that made the conference such a success was that every country knew in advance what the subjects were that would be discussed."

"Those who saw the last session, who watched the signing and heard the President talk, and who had also witnessed the last session of fine Paris conference, remarked the difference. At Paris the atmosphere was cold, feeling was bitter, and there was no applause. At Washington everybody was happy. Applause marked the attaching of every signature and when the President appeared he was given an ovation not soon to be forgotten by those in attendance. Every American citizen should feel mighty proud of our President, of his vision and of the result of the conference which was born in his brain. We should also feel proud of our Secretary of State, whose work with Mr. Balfour, head of the British delegation, in connection with the differences between China and Japan, resulted in such a wonderful understanding and good feeling."

"Well, here we are home at last and I hardly know we were walking," "I didn't either," said Jack, "and I sure was glad to learn about these things."

WOMEN'S WOES

Maysville Women Are Finding Relief At Last.

It does seem that women have more than a fair share of the aches and pains that afflict humanity; they must "keep up," must attend to duties in the home, constantly aching backs, or headache, dizzy spells, bearing-down pains; they must stoop over, when to stoop means torture. They must walk and bend and work with racking pains and many aches from kidney ills. Keeping the kidneys well has spared thousands of women much misery.

Read of a remedy for kidney ills that is endorsed by people you know. Mrs. E. L. Cullen, 322 West Second street, Maysville, says: "Three years ago I had an attack of kidney trouble and my back ached continually. I had no ambition to do my housework and everything seemed a drag to me while going about it. I had blinding, dizzy spells and my head ached all the time. My kidneys were not acting regularly and in other ways showed signs of disorder. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me and I sent to Wood & Son's drug store and got a box. After using them I got over the trouble entirely and have never since been bothered. I willingly recommend this remedy."

Price 60c., at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Cullen had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — It has been argued by business statisticians from time to time that telephone traffic is a fairly accurate barometer to business conditions. If that is true, New York City at least, is well on the way to full tide of prosperity. For several months there has been a steady increase in the average number of calls a day. There are 976,372 telephones in Greater New York, and in January there were 11.29 calls a day for each phone, an increase from 9.94 in September. That made a daily total of four and a half million calls a day—which makes one realize why the "busy" signal is heard so often.

New York fur men have decided that on more cat or muskrat can disguise itself under a fancy name and go forth to the world as "Madagascar mink" or anything else that sounds glossier than its plebeian origin. The three organizations of fur manufacturers, merchants and advertising men have issued an edict which they intend to have enforced insisting that every fur must carry itself under its true and accurate name. Except that of the house cat. They are willing to compromise by letting this be called simply "fur" with no appellation of any kind attached. So when you find a fur which cannot claim a given name, you know that this Tisbury's contribution to the world of fashion.

The Globe Theater is going to run no chances of payroll or ticket money robberies. Its management has connected the box office direct with the Greenwich Bank a block away by pneumatic tube and the receipts of "Good Morning, Dearie" are shot to safety as rapidly as they are taken in.

Oriental art has had a successful week in Gotham. Whether the disarmament conference added a filip to our interest in China and Japan, I do not know. But a total of $36,754 was realized from the sale of Japanese print collection the other day, and a group of Chinese snuff bottles brought $9,045 a day or two later. The highest price paid for any of the prints was $1,300, for a print by Isoda Koryusai, entitled "A White Falcon." It showed a white bird on a slate-colored rock, sharply outlined against a dark sky.

Mrs. Madge Fox Hart believes that a man's business manager and personality promoter should get a fair share of the proceeds of that accomplishment even if said manager and promoter happens to be his wife. In suing Max Hart, theatrical hooking agent for separation, she asks $1,000 a week from him, based on the claim that she "made him what he is today." She found him a mere billposter and turned him into theatrical manager who made $210,000 in one year, she says. There were married in 1903, Mrs. Hart said, and she immediately took over the exploitation of his talents. She got jobs for him, which did not pay much but would keep him busy and train him. Then she paid him $75 a week while he was holding down those small jobs and getting the training she thought best. "In 1905," she explains, "I took him abroad and introduced him to all the European celebrities and business men so that in the future he might have an established acquaintance with them." Later, he got a real job and she withdrew the subsidy. "I considered that he had served his apprenticeship," she said.

When George Bernard Shaw is dead, the Garrick Theater, now occupied by the Theater Guild, might well be rechristened with his name. It was there that American audiences first saw a Shaw play — "Arms and the Man," twenty-seven years ago. It was there that Arnold Daly and Mary Shaw produced "Mrs. Warren's Profession" for a single performance which brought the police down upon them. Later the Theater Guild took over the theater, and Shaw has been seen there at his best, notably in "Heartbreak House." Now they are going to put on his "Back to Methuselah," beginning February 27, and lasting for three weeks. It is one of the most interesting as well as most dramatic experiments in theatrical history; for it is necessary to show it in three sections, giving one section each night the first week, the next a week later, and the last a week later still.

The National Arts Club committee finally decided that "Lady with a Shawl," the most discussed painting by George W. Bellows, was worthy and proper to be hung in their galleries. Objection had been made by some of the members that the shawl was not sufficiently protecting the lady and that the picture was "naked," rather than "nude." Two factions developed within the club, one contending that Bellows was too great an artist to paint anything which an art-minded person could possibly criticize and the other declaring that this picture was an effort at sensationalism rather than true art.

PUBLIC SERVICE
THE HIGHEST SERVICE.
Washington, D. C. — Lauding the public spirit which calls able men to the public service, the Republican Publicity Association, through its President, Hon. Jonathan Bourne, Jr., makes exception to the advice which U. S. Senator Walsh of Massachusetts recently gave to the students of Georgetown University in Washington. In his address, Senator Walsh said: "Young lawyers absolutely blight their careers by becoming lawyers of their home cities. Nine men out of ten make a failure of life who enter upon a public career, and usually die in poverty." He earnestly advised every ambitious professional student to "steer clear of a public career."

Commenting upon these utterances, the Republican Publicity Association says: "It seems to be the Walsh doctrine that any man who is worth his salt should carefully avoid giving the public the benefit of his knowledge and experience and devote himself exclusively to the making of money." "Apparently that has been the dominating idea among Democrats, as the members of that party who have been chosen to fill public office reflect little credit on themselves or on the intelligence of the voters who elected them. Fortunately there is a different standard among Republicans. To have served one's city, state, or country well is considered sufficient recompense even though such success has not been accompanied by financial munificence. There is not a member of President Harding's Cabinet who could not earn in private practice many times the financial return that he receives in Federal office. The offer of $75,000 a year to Postmaster General Hays to take command of the moving picture industry is a fair appraisal of the real worth of men at the head of affairs in Washington today.

"In the Senate and House there is scarcely a member of the majority party who is not in office because of his love of public service. The salary of $7,500 paid those men each year is a pittance compared with what they could earn elsewhere. Their ambition is to win the commendation of their constituents. Somebody once said that 'gratitude is a fruit of great cultivation.' It is won in public life only after unselfish effort for the public welfare. A man in public life counts himself a success if he can hear the grateful appreciations of those whom he has sought to represent.

"One experiences a sense of depression in reading such comments as those delivered by Senator Walsh. If the students of our colleges were to follow his advice the United States would start on the rapid road to disaster, while if his words are disregarded and precisely the opposite course followed the future of this nation is permanently assured. It is the duty of those prominently in the public eye to urge young men to turn their attention more and more to public affairs. Only by so doing can the standard of government be improved. The dangers that beset our institutions all have their root in a too widespread neglect of national and local problems.

"Republicans have already made it their business to encourage a wider study and discussion of affairs of government, believing that in so doing a far more intelligent vote will be cast at the elections and a higher type of men will be induced to become candidates for public office. The country's escape from entanglement in the league of nations is a prominent instance of what popular education on a national problem will do. Republicans will continue their policies as heretofore, but if Democrats generally are to urge the turning over of public

Sweeping Order ISSUED BY FEDERAL JUDGE COCHRAN

Conspiracy To Prevent Operation of Steel Plant and To Obstruct Interstate Commerce Alleged.

Upon application of the Newport Rolling Mill Company, shown in its bill of complaint filed in the United States District Court to be a corporation existing under the laws of the state of Delaware, Judge A. M. J. Cochran, at Maysville, Ky., Saturday issued a sweeping temporary restraining order in which national officers and officers and members of Newport unions of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers are enjoined from interference with the operation of the mill or from interfering or obstructing the shipment of its products.

The suit is directed against J. L. Williams, President of Local Union No. 17 and 150 members of unions together with other persons who are charged in the bill of complaint with having entered into a conspiracy to prevent the operation of the mill.

Among those included in Judge Cochran's restraining order are M. P. Tighe, Pittsburg, National President, and Walter Larkin, Martin's Ferry, Ohio, Vice President and General Organizer of the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers.

In addition to Williams as president of Brighton Local Union No. 17, other union officers temporarily enjoined are Carl Bruechhaber, Vice President, and G. G. G. Secretary of Brighton Local, President Joseph Gaffney, Vice President William Shinton and Secretary John Kinsella, of Monmouth Local Union No. 16; President Edward Miller, Vice President O. I. Whitehouse and Secretary N. Phillips, of Newburg Local Union No. 5, and President Ed. Santney, Vice President William MacLae and Secretary Ralph Wagner, of Campbell Local Union No. 15.

The order directs that all the defendants named in the bill of complaint are "restrained and enjoined from in any way or manner whatsoever, by use of threats, or personal injury, intimidation, suggestion of danger or threats of violence of any kind, with hindering, obstructing or stopping any person engaged in the employment of The Newport Rolling Mill Company in connection with its business, and from interfering by violence or threats of violence, in any manner with any person desiring to be employed by said company at its plant, and from inducing or attempting to compel or induce by putting in fear or suggestion of danger any of the employees of said company or persons seeking employment with it so as to

Her Mother's Faith in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Led Her To Try It

Kenosha, Wisconsin.—"I cannot say enough in praise of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. My mother had great faith in it as she had taken so much of it and when I had trouble after my baby was born she gave it to me. It helped me so much more than anything else had done that I advise all women with female trouble to give it a fair trial and I am sure they will feel as I do about it.—Mrs. FRED P. HANSEN, 562 Symmonds St., Kenosha, Wisconsin.

A medicine that has been in use nearly fifty years and that receives the praise and commendation of mothers and grandmothers is worth your consideration.

If you are suffering from troubles that sometimes follow child-birth bear in mind that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a woman's medicine. It is especially adapted to correct such troubles.

The letters we publish ought to convince you; ask some of your women friends or neighbors—they know its worth. You will, too, if you give it a fair trial.
